The answer is C: SaaS.

Microsoft 365, (formerly Office 365) is a Software as a Service (SaaS).

It provides users access to office productivity apps for email, collaboration, communication, file storage, and more that they can either install on their desktops or access on a web browser.

I will be taking the test Sept 20, 2024. I made sides for each question and used Chat GPT and Copilot to help check answers and compare what was stated in the discussions. I will try to provide an update after my test. Wish me luck.

Ughh got to the last question. But going to do further studying for the more difficult topics or stuff I have already forgotten. Will do the exam middle September probably, now it's holiday time

All the best
