Chose B because it also makes the most sense. Assuming we're talking IPv4, they are a limited resource. Not 'virtual'.

Public IP addresses in Azure are charged based on usage and can add up over time. Removing unused public IP addresses can help you reduce your Azure costs.

This probably comes up in all the tests. Got this on 11-16-22. Only public IP addr is charged from the above list so remove it if you want to reduce cost. ANOTHER Cost question I got was to identify for your mgmt what cloud features will impact the cost - answers included choice of Region, Egress volume and choice of Storage replication.
